1. A message was received from Don Juan's advisor, Julio Lopez Olivan, stating that two representatives of Llopis or of his Government had visited Lisbon. The Alianza Republicana and the Confederacion Nacional del Trabajo have proven to their own satisfaction that the visit was made with the knowledge and consent of the Socialist Party inside Spain, and that the latter agreed to the visit without mentioning the matter to the ANPD. When the Alianza Republicana and the CNT called the Socialists to account on the matter, the Socialists had no satisfactory explanation to offer, but attempted to excuse themselves by vague statements and to place complete responsibility on Llopis' shoulders for the fact that the visit was undertaken.

2. After Republicans of the Alianza Republicana learned of the trip to Lisbon of Llopis' representatives, they wrote to Don Juan directly, asking him to designate a person inside Spain with full powers to represent the Pretender in political matters and declaring that any accord adopted between the Llopis Government and the monarchists would be of no value unless signed by the ANPD.

reply to a question on whether or not the CNT and the Socialist Party had agreed to the sending of the letter, the Alianza Republicana leader stated that it had been written and signed by his organization only, but that he was sure that in time the action would be approved by the other components of the ANPD.
